View larger Finger Knitting I want all of my kiddos to see fiber as a blank canvas for creativity as well as practicality. If they have a vision; see it through. If they want to give a gift; hand make it. If they need something to keep themselves warm; produce it themselves. Whether or not they stick with it is less important. It's the awareness I was after. Enter finger knitting.

This book delivered, it had way more patterns in it than I expected from online previews. My daughter is looking forward to raiding my yarn stash and making lots of snakes to give as gifts to neighborhood friends. Vickie as always has an excellent eye for what's adorable, fun and modern! Also perfect for when you need projects to knit as gifts. I remember finger knitting with cotton loops when I was a child and making a long chain that literally all around my house. We would sit outside in the sun all summer long making the chain and giggling while we chatted about school and other silly things. I have no idea what ever happened to that chain but I know every moment sitting in the sun with my friends was a priceless thing. Hoping my daughter can have the same experience with this book as her guide and my endless stash as fuel!

This book is so fun! It is geared to kids but I found the projects so inspiring. The directions at the beginning were clear and easy to follow on how to finger knit I picked it up right away. I enjoyed finger knitting so much I can't stop making things inspired by all the pretty projects. My yarn stash has been torn apart and transformed into a bunch of new home dec projects.

I teach elementary school and have a Craft Club after school. Finger knitting is a huge hit with boys and girls, and this book gave us some great project ideas. Very simple to follow directions and lots of good illustrations. Even my Second graders could read and follow the directions on their own...and then they taught some Kindergarten's and First graders! It's pretty cool to see a 6-year old very seriously making a scarf for his Mom :-)

This is a cute book that I got for my 10 year old grandest-daughter for Christmas. It has a lot of cute projects that I believe she will be able to do on her own. She loves crafts and looms etc. The price was right and shipping was fast (with Prime).

i like this book. any way you can learn something is great. i get adult books as well as kids books to learn from. sometimes the kids books are easier to learn from than the adults books. this is easy to learn from and fun. easy things to make. goods for kids and adults

My tween daughter knows how to do some basic knitting with needles and so she was very interested in this book. She took the book and started learning from the helpful photos and text how to do the simple, standard finger knitting technique. She caught on almost immediately, since the instructions are so clear and easy to follow, even for kids. She made a long knitted piece out of some soft, gray wool yarn we had. She suggested that maybe it could be a blanket for a snake, but I said it could work well as a headband. So, we finished it off and tied the ends and it worked great as a headband. I love all the fun ideas of ways to use this simple crafting technique, from hats to a pretty mobile. We are looking for what to try next and I think we will work on the panda pillow, it's really cute!

The instructions in this book are very clear and easy to follow. I gave my 8 year old daughter the book and a few skeins of yarn and let her go at it. She has made a scarf, a ton of friendship bracelets for her girlfriends, and a hat. She is now teaching my 4yo how to finger knit. As a crafty mom, I love books like this. I learned how to crochet, embroider, sew and other crafts out of books as a kid. We didn't have you tube tutorials or pinterest back when I was a child. I love the idea of having a book to look back to as reference when she may hit a bump in her craft road.

Love these projects! Been looking for new ideas to do with my 'crafty' niece... Which isn't an easy task for a non-crafty auntie! These are just the ticket! Off to the yarn store I go!
